PLANS FOR 1982

CONVENTION UNDER WAY

NEW ORLEANS -- Long before the minutes of the 66th General Convention of 1979 are finished, plans are being made for the 67th triennial meeting of the Episcopal Church's highest legislative body in 1982.

The 1982 meeting will be held in New Orleans, Sept. 6-15, using the facilities of the Rivergate convention and exhibition center and several nearby hotels. By action of the Joint Standing Committee on Planning and Arrangements -- which met here Jan. 28-29 -- the House of Deputies and the exhibitions will meet in the Rivergate while the House of Bishops will hold its sessions in the New Orleans Hilton Hotel across the street from the center.

The Triennial Meeting of the Women of the Episcopal Church will also be held at the Hilton. Committees of the two houses will use space in the Hilton and other nearby hotels, including the Marriott.

The Convention will open on Monday, Sept. 6, with a Eucharist at 11:30 a.m., following brief organizing sessions of the two houses at 9:30. The opening service will include the ingathering of the United Thank Offering. The Convention will close at noon on Wednesday, Sept. 15.

The approved schedule calls for shortening the Convention by two days at the beginning and one day at the end.
